Gentlemen:-

I have a collection of copper and silver coins, running into five or six hundred, that I am desireous of having appraised, and will appreciate if you can recommend a responsible party to look them over.

If you do such things yourself, I will thank you to let me know what the cost would be to inspect this collection.

Very truly yours,

Paul Turner

P.S. Return postage enclosed.

Dear Sir:

Replying to your favour of April 12th, our charge for appraising coins is at the rate of twenty-five dollars per day, plus expenses. Should you care to bring or send the collection here, of which you write, and do not desire to have each coin attributed separately but simply a general appraisement, it would be much cheaper.

Very truly yours,

Curator
